

27 degree of Sagittarius: 'The sculptor's vision is taking form'

This image does not need much explaining.

The sculptor is someone constantly wrestling with 'form', trying to give solid, three dimensional expression to a vision from whatever raw material happens to be the chosen medium of his/her art.

The sentence captures a special moment in the creative process when the chaos of inchoate ideas and images begins to acquire a definite form. This can result in a triumph of the artist's vision or just a poor rendering of it.

The dividing line between real and imagined is closing up. We can begin to see what we are actually capable of; not just resting on the hope of what could be possible.
