

04 degree of Sagittarius: 'A little child learning to walk'

First tentative steps doing something completely new but for which we feel to have natural inclination and talent.

There is a little bit of fear, more like excitement though.

The main emotion is an overwhelming wonder at the possibilities opening in front of us. How many places, activities, relationships we will be able to experience if we learn to make those first steps!

Essential moment in growth, when we realize a degree of independence we could only dream of before.
