

18 degree of Sagittarius: 'Tiny children in sunbonnets'

Sunbonnets, babies and toddlers: a postcard of happy infancy, children well cared for, outdoor fun in the sun; first friendships, first fascinating glimpses of a greater world beyond the familiar one.

The image of the sunbonnets suggests the need for protecting the precious child who lives and shines within each one of us, thus safeguarding the vital spark of Spirit from the cynicism born of disappointment that too often spoils our adult lives.

Reliving the joys of childhood, the abandon of playful creativity, the spontaneity, the vision of a future full of glorious sunshine.
