

20 degree of Capricorn: 'A hidden choir singing'

A choir is a harmony of beautiful voices, each with its own individual quality, trained to sing together. It is a choir's sense of unity which explains the fascination and spiritual transport this type of musical expression is able to generate in the listener. In particular here the choir voices come from a secret place, the singers remaining hidden, thus creating even more of a magical/mystical atmosphere in their surroundings.

This remind me of the fact that, despite all the disharmony and discord that challenge our desire for peace in the world, there is harmony in our heart of hearts, if we are able to open the inner ear to its enchantment.
