

17 degree of Aquarius: 'A watchdog standing guard'

There is a feeling of tension and expectation in this image. This well trained dog is like well trained instincts, at the ready in the eventuality we may need to defend ourselves or protect the ones we care for.

A watchdog is not brave the way a human being is brave. His courage stems from his devotion to a master he would give his own life to save from harm. So the watchdog is not just a symbol of basic vital instincts but also of selfless devotion and readiness to give all for what we truly love, be it a person or an ideal.
